

Wake Forest Institute for Regenerative Medicine

2015 Media Coverage

Mental Floss

Scientists May Be Able to Recycle Used Organs

December 2015

Huffington Post

These Advances In Lab-Grown Organs Might Save Your Life One Day

October 2015

European Society for Organ Transplantation

Interview with Dr. John Jackson on 3D Printing

October 2015

AZONANO

Chip-Based Model Produces Low Cost, Tissue-Engineered Pseudo-Organ

September 2015

Winston-Salem Monthly Magazine

Game Changers

September 2015

Scientific American

The Worldview 100

August 2015

Fort Hood Sentinel

Treatments Offer Hope for Burn Victims

July 2015

Science Daily

New Discoveries Advance Efforts to Build Replacement Kidneys in the Lab

June 2015

AdvancedManufacturing.org

Colliding Worlds: Engineering Meets Biology

June 2015

Medical News Today

Researchers Make Progress Engineering Digestive System Tissues

May 2015

Smithsonian Magazine

Soon, Your Doctor Could Print a Human Organ on Demand

April 2015

Popular Mechanics

Exclusive: Watch this Video of 3D-Printed Heart Cells Beating

April 2015

WebMD

Future of Health with Robin Roberts

March 2015

Huffington Post Impact

How 3D Printing Could End the Deadly Shortage of Donor Organs

March 2015

WSJS Radio

Aaron Mohs Publication on an Imaging System to Improve the Effectiveness of Tumor Surgery Reported on WSJS Radio

Listen to recording

January 2015

WDEF 12 News

Soddy Daisy High School Students Video Conference with WFIRM Faculty

January 2015