Welcome to the 24th annual meeting of Advances in Physiology and Pharmacology in Anesthesia and Critical Care presented by the Department of Anesthesiology of Wake Forest School of Medicine. We have an outstanding faculty that will present current information of scientific and clinical importance. These presentations will aid in the understanding of new techniques, equipment and patient management issues facing today’s practitioners of anesthesia and critical care medicine. We provide time for discussion, questions and answers after each series of lectures. You also have the opportunity to attend an Anesthesia Workshop or participate in an Ultrasound Vascular Access Workshop. Furthermore, our popular special lecture on Saturday provides an opportunity for you and your guest to hear renowned speakers on interesting national issues. Sunday evening will feature a lively ProCon debate. Whether you are a skeptic or prefer to restrict its use, this will be an informative and entertaining evening for you!
